New Directors at Battle Creek's Historic Village

In Sept. 2023, Mark and his wife Becky Johnson moved to the Historic Adventist Village to combine their love of people, history and Adventist heritage.

From 1974-2024, Mark and Becky answered God's call to serve in ministerial work all over the place. Starting in Missouri, they next moved to Indiana, then Ontario in Canada, on to California, up to Saskatchewan, back to Indiana, then Missouri again, Iowa, British Columbia, Alberta, and finally Ontario once more. But this time, he was president of the Canadian Union Conference after years of experience as a pastor, evangelist, communication director, conference secretary, conference president and more.

"The important thing," he says, "is that we have an amazing story to tell. Just as the Israelites crossed the Jordan into the Promised Land where God told them to build memorial altars and tell their children about what He did for them, so Battle Creek is a symbolic modern altar where we can tell our children the story of our Adventist heritage. If we follow the pillar of fire and the cloud, like the children of Israel did in the wilderness, we, too will arrive at the Promised Land."

Church Transforms into Mobile Clinic to Meet Community's Needs

Berrien Springs, Michigan and its surrounding areas form a melting pot of students and residents from different corners of the globe. Within this rich tapestry many international students and residents are faced with financial constraints, residing on low or fixed incomes, often without adequate insurance, making the struggle for survival a daily reality.

Recognizing this challenge, the Village Seventh-day Adventist Church, in collaboration with Adventist Medical Evangelism Network (AMEN) Free Clinic and the Michigan Conference of Seventh Day Adventists rallied together.

THIS MONTH IN ADVENTIST HISTORY

On January 28, 1914, the students, faculty, and staff of Emmanuel Missionary College gathered for a group photograph. Although it was the height of winter in Berrien Springs, the day was clear and without snow, and the crowd posed without heavy coats or hats. Look closely and you'll see a few folks with their hands crammed into their pockets—it must have been cold! This original photograph does not list the names of the people pictured. If you recognize any faces, please write to content@adventistdigitallibrary.org.
